

Freshly Caught Fairy Folk

Captured by The Fairy Catcher catching fairies since 1991

The Fairy Catcher specialises in the capture of fairy folk.

Using an ointment made from a four leafed Clover to protect you from their magic powers, but please never let them escape from their jars as we cannot be responsible for the consequences. Good Luck!

These pages describe the fairies that we catch. The fairies are all held captive in glass jars, and the following descriptions appear on their individual labels. Please visit www.thefairycatcher.com to see them. Good luck!

Pisky

Piskies are from Cornwall and although they are fond of playing practical jokes on people who have lost their way in the countryside they can bring luck and good fortune

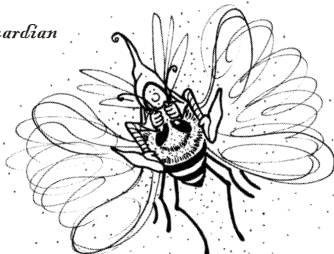

Knocker

Knockers come from Cornwall and used to help the Tin Miners by knocking to indicate where a rich batch of ore could be found. Listen for their knocking, there could be a rich vein in store for you!

Brownie

The Brownie is a Cornish guardian of the bees. It is said that when the housewife would beat a can and call 'Brownie, Brownie' they'd become invisible to round up any swarming bees.

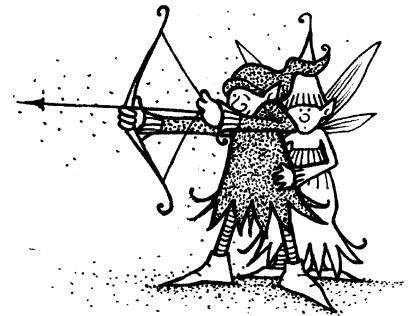

Spriggan

This grotesque Ffeli-goblin is a helpful sprite and does many good deeds for fairies. Be good to folk and he will bring good luck to you.

Ferrishyn

The Ferrishyn are the trooping fairies of The Isle of Man. They love hunting and have very good hearing, they can hear whatever is said out of doors. Every wind stirring carries the sound to their ears. Take care to speak well of them, then luck and good fortune could be yours.

Buggane

The Buggane is a goblin from The Isle of Man. He lives in a Dub into which the Spooty falls. He will change his shape if he is set free, and it is not unusual for a Buggane to turn into a very large water horse!

Bwca (Booka)

Bwcas are from Wales and are fiery short tempered and secretive. In the house they will help with chores but do not be surprised if other folk say they can't see it because normally a Bwca will disappear if it is seen.
